TOVE Valley Baptist Fellowship have welcomed a new pastor to Towcester.

Rev Paul Knight, pictured, accepted the position in June after discussions between the church leadership, Baptist Union of Great Britain and both Weston and Towcester congregations.

After he visited the church along with his wife, Alison, a church vote was taken and members agreed Paul would be offered the position of senior pastor overseeing the two congregations.

Paul became a Christian at the age of 17 and started in the ministry in 1982 in Ipswich.

Talking about TVBF, Paul said: "For me, coming to Towcester is about responding to what I believe is the call of my Commander in Chief Jesus Christ, it's about responding to where I believe he is asking me to go and serve him.

"I'm excited about being in Towcester. I've come to a town which has a discerning historical memory, but also an expectant future perspective.

"The same is true of the church I am here to help lead, Tove Valley Baptist Fellowship.

"I want to be able to help create within Tove Valley Baptist Fellowship an atmosphere where people can belong in a healthy relationship with God and others, and become more like Jesus each day.

"If I can help do this in TVBF and Towcester, then I will be a contented person."
